

FINLAND GREETED PEACE WITH SORROW AND MOURNING

Newspapers Appear With Black Bordered Extra Editions

WAR COMES TO AN END

Peace Pact Still Awaits Ratification By The Finnish Parliament

By International News Service
HELSINKI, Mar. 13.—Black bordered extra editions of Finnish newspapers, flags flying at half mast and a tearful broadcast by Foreign Minister Tanner told the people of Finland today that their war against Soviet Russia had come to an end on the Kremlin's own terms.

For the first time in 3½ months of bloody warfare, the guns were silenced from Finland's Arctic coast to the deep snow of southern Carelia, beneath which still lies thousands of unaccounted Russian and Finnish dead.

The peace pact signed early this morning in the Kremlin still awaits ratification by the Finnish Parliament, but Tanner made it clear in a broadcast that the war is over.

Finland's inability to obtain adequate military help from abroad, compelled the government to cede Russian large blocks of Finnish soil, Tanner said, and the country no longer could hold out single handed against the Reds.

(Editor's note: An unverified report in Carelia said that the Russians had threatened a war of "total extinction" against Finland unless the peace terms were accepted.)

Never has peace been greeted with such strange emotions as those which swept Finland today.

In the past, news of an armistice has meant riotous celebration. This one came as a paralyzing shock.

Best available information in still censored Helsinki, however, was that surrender to the Russian demands was inevitable.

LONDON, Mar. 13.—Finland decided on peace with Soviet Russia because

Neshaminy Falls Man Found Dead; Broncho-Pneumonia

NESHAMINY FALLS, Mar. 13.—The sending of an invitation by a child for a local man to partake of a meal at a neighbor's home, lead to investigation, which resulted in finding of a man's lifeless body.

The deceased is Richard H. Ingram, Cypress and Chestnut avenues, who was found dead in bed at his home, the result of broncho-pneumonia. The death of Ingram was discovered by Richard McManus, who resides nearby. A child in the McManus household had been sent to the home of Ingram, who resides alone, to ask him to partake of the evening meal with the McManus family. The child could not gain entrance, and informed its mother that lights were burning at the Ingram home, in spite of the fact that it was daylight. When Mr. McManus returned home from his employment, and investigated, he made his discovery, notifying patrolmen from Oxford Valley barracks of Pennsylvania Motor Police. Deputy coroner, Dr. James P. Lawler, Bristol, was also summoned.

The deceased had not been feeling well for several days, and had been attended by a physician several days previous.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret; a sister and a brother. Mr. Ingram had lived here for 20 years, being a sheet metal worker and roofer by trade.

ONLY 1% OF CRIMES ARE DONE BY BUCKS PEOPLE

County Detective Anthony Russo So Informs Council of Republican Women

ADMONISHES PARENTS

That only one per cent of the crimes committed in Bucks County are executed by Bucks County residents, was one point given stress last evening, when Anthony Russo, Bucks County detective, addressed the Lower Bucks County Council of Republican Women.

"Ninety-nine per cent of the criminal deeds done in this county are by those from cities beyond the confines of Bucks County," commented the detective, who was introduced by Mrs. Harry Frederick, Croydon, council president.

Another point mentioned was that every major crime committed in Bucks County during the past ten years, has been cleared up, this including murders. There were no kidnappings, it was pointed out.

The need for parents to check on whereabouts of their children was impressed upon Mr. Russo's hearers. "Parents think they know where their children are at night, but they don't know," An admonition was given against permitting children to have rifles. "They start by shooting at tin cans, then a human being gets in the way, and there is a victim."

Crime motion pictures came in for their share of scorn. "They glorify the criminal, berate the 'cops,' and increase crime. And the crime story magazines are in the same category," added the detective. "All add to crime. Instead of detracting from it."

Another pertinent remark was that

The survey was made by Andrew Gruenwald, New York engineer, who made the follow-up study without cost to the borough, as a check-up on the functioning of the plant as he designed it. The report was made at the March meeting of Perkasio Borough Council.

Mr. Gruenwald said that with the adjustment of a few valves, a pump and a water conditioner was all that was required, and that this work was carried out as a part of the original engineering contract.

Mr. Farley's Religion

Washington, Mar. 12. The other day, when Mr. Roosevelt's chief journalistic intimate and biographer quoted him as having said that it would never do to nominate Mr. Farley as Vice-President with Mr. Hull because he is a Catholic, some denial was looked for from the White House. Though published all over the United States, none came.

EVERY other story purporting to give views on the 1940 ticket had been "thrown down" either by the President himself or by his secretary. This one was allowed to "ride." A few days after its publication the author touched on the subject by asserting that Mr. Roosevelt has no trace of religious bigotry, and, as evidence, pointed to the number of Catholics and Jews he had appointed. But from neither the author nor the President came any modification of the words put in Mr. Roosevelt's mouth that the nomination of Mr. Farley for second place would make it seem that Mr. Hull was being used as a "stalking horse for the Pope."

IT IS no exaggeration to describe the resentment among Mr. Farley's friends over the President's failure to repudiate the statement as intense. It may be true, they say, that there still exists in this country a certain amount of unworthy religious prejudice, but this is the first time a President of the United States, without protest of any sort, has permitted himself to be quoted as regarding it as an insuperable bar to the ambition of a decent man to high public office. By so doing he has established a precedent that, instead of lessening this shameful thing in American politics, has increased its strength.

PUBLIC Presidential recognition, no matter how indirect, of the power of anti-Catholic feeling to prevent the nomination of a Catholic

CROYDON RESIDENTS WIN VERDICTS IN SUITS FOR DAMAGES

Alvina Kornfeld, Croydon, Is Given $337.75, and Alvina Schurkraft $105

BRISTOLIAN DEFENDANT

Suit of Engineer Against Perkasio Borough is Now Before the Court

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 13.—Verdicts for $337.75 in favor of Alvina Kornfeld, Croydon, and against Alberta Laboratore, Bristol, and a verdict for $105 for Alvina Schurkraft, Croydon, and against the same defendant, were returned in court here. The suit was the outgrowth of an automobile accident occurring in Bristol at Garfield street and Wilson avenue, July 25, 1932.

In Judge Calvin S. Boyer's court a verdict was returned in the amount of $33.10 in favor of the plaintiff, Albert Merwarth, against David H. Smith, and $100 verdict for Daisy Merwarth against the same defendant.

In Judge Boyer's court the case of Robert L. Latimer, 2nd, vs. L. D. Davis, an action in assumpsit, got underway.

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 13.—The second day of the trial of William F. Murphy, former superintendent of Perkasio Borough's Electric Light Department against the Borough of Perkasio, got under way in Bucks County Civil Court this morning, before a jury and President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

Murphy, who was dismissed from his position which paid $291.67 a month, is suing Perkasio Borough for back salary alleged to be due on an unexpired contract. Murphy was "fired" November 6, 1939. He is suing to collect part of November and all of December's salary and an additional $2,858.36 salary to August 31, 1940.

The defense presented witnesses yesterday to show that Murphy was dismissed because of "insubordination and inefficiency" in operating Perkasio's valuable electric light plant.

The plaintiff Murphy is 45 and came to Perkasio from New York where he held an engineer's license in addition to a Federal license to operate steam vessels. He also held an engineer's license in New Jersey and once served in an engineering capacity in the United States Navy.

Phares Bader, secretary of Perkasio Council, read from the minutes of a meeting of November 6, 1939, the motion authorizing Murphy's dismissal and stating the case. He said that it was moved to give Murphy a check for 30 days' salary in advance and the dismissal took effect at once. Murphy was also notified by letter.

William O. Bintzer, defense witness, who has been employed at the Perkasio plant for 22 years and who is now a watch engineer, testified that he never saw Murphy about the plant much, sometimes only twice a week.

Bintzer said that he once asked Murphy about the switchboard operation at the Perkasio plant and that the superintendent replied, "I'm no switchboard man."

"I was demoted from watch engineer to fireman by Murphy on October 19, 1939," Bintzer testified. "The lights flickered one morning and I fixed what was necessary. Later I was reinstated by Murphy a week later."

Bintzer testified that one night in September Murphy came to the plant "staggered" and that he called up on the phone on one occasion and asked whether a certain change had been made to a machine that he himself saw made a short time before.

"You are an engineer?" asked Attorney John Ross, one of the plaintiff's counsel, in cross-examination.

"Yes, I am," Bintzer replied.

"What degrees do you hold?" Bintzer was asked.

"Only my experience at the Perkasio Light Plant," the witness replied.

The defense next called George S. Snyder, who has worked for Perkasio Borough for 22 years and who was a watch engineer under Murphy and who is now superintendent of the plant. The job once held by the plaintiff.

"Murphy never gave me any orders or instructions as to what to do," Snyder testified. "He once asked me where the expanding ring went on a pump."

Morris Wisler, line foreman at the Perkasio plant for 15 years, also testified that Murphy never told him what to do or gave him any instructions in regard to distribution and maintenance. "He told me that was my line," Wisler testified.

"After Bintzer had been demoted, I told this for the first time to Borough Council," Wisler testified.

Similar testimony was given by Paul Hinkle, who has worked for Perkasio since 1921 and a watch engineer and other jobs.

"We had more trouble with the plant while Murphy was there than before he came," Hinkle testified.

Councilman J. Lloyd Hart, chairman of Perkasio's electric light committee, testified that his committee called a meeting and investigated Murphy's charges that Bintzer was careless and not on the job properly, and the fact that Murphy blamed Bintzer for two short breakdowns in power service in Perkasio last year.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 13, 1940

LEGENDARY STATE FIGURE

Word of the passing of Maxine Elliott in France brings with it the momentary confusion that comes with learning of the death of one who already is a myth. The cables give her age, and incorrectly no doubt, for even her birthday was a matter of opinion; and those who professed to know the lady quite well were hard pressed to separate fact from legend in her past.

But all hands—kings and millionaires and the commonalty—agreed that she was as breath-taking a beauty as ever walked on to the stage; and she wisely withdrew from the public gaze while some of this gift was still intact. In the presence of so formidable a loveliness, it was hard to decide if she was a good actress as well. Wollcott says with intended kindness that she was a non-actor, while Daniel Froham in his "Memories" ducks the question like a gentleman by citing only her "statuesque beauty, a startling and profitable asset." There is not much question that she lacked an inner fire which marks the superlative player, and yet, without this, her mere presence was overwhelming.

Maxine Elliott was more than photogenic, a quality cherished in this camera-conscious age, she was (to coin a word), ophthalmogenic, or easy to the eye itself. And probably she had more oomph than the oomph girls of this period because there was more of Maxine. About that, the younger generation can ask Dad—he knows.

DUCE'S MODERATE RAGE

Nobody can register—or simulate—extreme rage more convincingly than Benito Mussolini. Recalling the way in which he used to tear passion to tatters during the Italian conquest of Ethiopia and the Spanish civil war, therefore, some of the Duce's public may be somewhat disappointed by the comparatively mild manner in which he is carrying on his diplomatic controversy with Great Britain over seizure of German coal exports.

Mussolini's public must remember, however, that he now is up against something tougher than the problem of bombing Haile Selassie's subjects out of their village huts, or that of keeping Franco supplied with enough Italian cannon fodder to offset any preponderance of native Spaniards on the Loyalist side. There is a full dress war going on in Europe; and Mussolini isn't quite ready to invite himself to the party—at least, he isn't ready, if he is the realist he is cracked up to be.

Il Duce has been aware for three months of the fact that the blockade would be clamped on coal from Germany, and has had ample time to arrange to get his coal elsewhere—if not from Britain, then from the United States or Belgium.

The British naturally attribute what passes for Mussolini's present anger to his belated discovery that they weren't fooling. Having failed to bluff the British out of their blockade, Il Duce hardly will go so far as to try to fight them out of it. At least, that is what the British must think.

A paper the other day carried President's remarks about a third term for himself. But they were Washington's again.

The consensus seems to be that all Mr. Welles will get out of it will be a nice ride if nothing happens.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL
King Features Syndicate Writer
HOLLYWOOD. — If the local chamber of commerce doesn't publicize it, they ought to.

Summer or winter, rain or shine, lanky Edna May Oliver takes a dip in the Pacific ocean. She has a set routine. Drives from her home in Brentwood to the beach, taking her trailer along as a dressing room. She goes into the water at 10:45.

The actress is so solid on the practice as a health measure that she refuses to accept any film part that makes her report to the studio before 1 p. m. This is the arrangement M-G-M had to agree to before she would work in "Pride and Prejudice."

It's an official engagement between Comedian Eddie Albert and Alicia Warren, visiting beauty from St. Paul, Minn. The two went to school together and she is now out here with her mother. The ring she wears was given to her by Albert.

When Norma Mullen and Agent Al Kingston eloped to Yuma, Patricia Knowles flew them there in his plane. But here's the topper: Photographers at Yuma mistook Knowles for the prospective bridegroom and asked Kingston to step aside so they could take a picture of the romantic pair.

Remember we told you it was serious between British Actor Robert Coote and Barbara Read? Well, they now have set a tentative wedding date—May 12. And don't be surprised if the parson who conducts the ceremony is the Rev. R. A. Jardine, who married Mrs. Simpson and Edward, Duke of Windsor.

In 1919, Hobart Cavanaugh and another chorus boy in "Trene" vowed if they got enough money they would retire and live on a citrus ranch in California. Cavanaugh hasn't retired. He's working at Warner Brothers in "An Angel From Texas." But the other day he bought the citrus ranch. And his next door neighbor is the other chorus boy—John Littel.

They are not all selfish out here. Vivien Leigh's stand-in, Mozelle

George Fenton, Robert Jennings and Ernest Conklin.

Today's Quiet Moment

Make of us, O God, the pure salt of Christianity, so that in all our contacts with men we may bless and purify. May it be easier for others to be good when we are around. By the pervasive, silent influence of a godly life, help us to bring in the Kingdom of God. Amen.

BRISTOL THEATRE

The younger generation has the situation well in hand at the Bristol Theatre, where Paramount's unusual drama of college life, "All Women Have Secrets," its local opening tonight. A talented youth cast gets cum laude rating for its acting in a story packed with suspense, action and romance.

"Drake the Pirate" now on the screen of the Bristol Theatre is a robust, colorful film of the piratical adventures of Sir Francis Drake featuring Matheson Lang, Athene Seyler and Jane Baxter, which gives many amusing sidelights on history.

RITZ THEATRE

Billy Halop and Huntz Hall, two of the popular Dead End Kids, are united with their traditional rivals, the "Little Tough Guys" in Universal's new dramatic comedy, "Call A Messenger," which comes today to the Ritz Theatre.

Remember the old-time barber shop quartette and the buck-and-wing dance of the heyday of vaudeville? Many a moviegoer who has bemoaned their loss will find that they have not been relegated to dusty memory forever when "Our Neighbors—the Carters," which features Fay Bainter, Frank Craven, Edmund Lowe and Genevieve Tobin, opens locally today at the Ritz Theatre.

GRAND THEATRE

"Meet Doctor Christian," the first in a projected new series of films starring Jean Hersholt, and based on the famous "Doctor Christian" radio serial, comes to the Grand Theatre today with an outstanding cast featuring Dorothy Lovett, Robert Baldwin, Enid Bennett and Paul Harvey. The new film drama concerns the humanitarian ideals of a small town doctor and the obstacles he encounters when trying to benefit his fellow citizens.

Miss Lovett, a newcomer to motion pictures, plays the role of Judy Price, Dr. Christian's nurse, a character that millions of radio fans will remember. The masculine romantic interest is supplied by Robert Baldwin.

The Great Game of Politics

olic for President or Vice-President gives encouragement to every religious bigot in the country. It could have no other result, and it is particularly unfortunate at this time when the feeling, so strong twelve years ago when Al Smith ran, had so clearly waned. That it should be revived by Mr. Roosevelt in connection with Mr. Farley is especially deplored for two reasons.

ONE is that nobody else had raised that question in connection with his Vice-Presidential chances; second, that it is the only objection that could be made to him. His record, his ability, his personal character, his private habits, his wide popularity and general attractiveness would make him a very strong candidate indeed. So far as can be judged, with the support of Mr. Roosevelt, he would be acceptable to both factions of the Democratic party and to the voters generally. The only element to which he would not be acceptable would be the bigots.

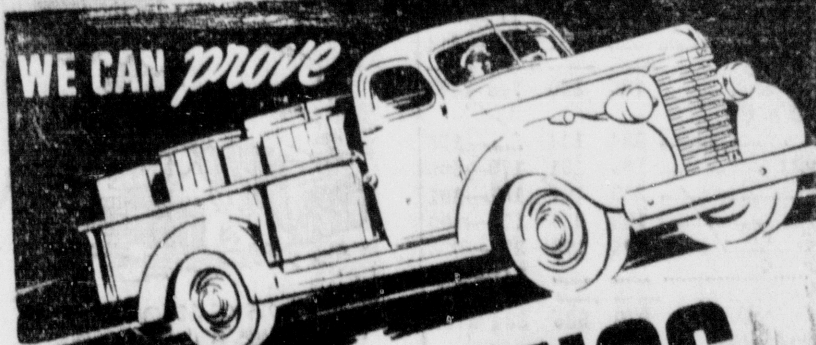

WHOMEVER else raised that point against him, it was not thought Mr. Roosevelt would. Whoever else ruled him out as ineligible because of his religion, Mr. Farley's friends did not expect the President to do so. If the head of the nation himself concedes that a man can be barred from the Vice-Presidency because of his religion, it is absurd to preach religious tolerance to others. Nor is it a defense to cite Mr. Roosevelt's personal freedom from religious prejudice and present the array of Catholics and Jews he has named to office.

MR. FARLEY'S friends are convinced that his religion is not the real reason Mr. Roosevelt is opposed to his being on the ticket. The real reason, they feel, is his desire to force on the convention for second place his Attorney General, Robert H. Jackson. Mr. Jackson is the "fair-haired boy" of the inner-circle group and the prime favorite of the President. He also is from New York. Should he be nominated through Roosevelt pressure and Mr. Farley turned down in the convention, the President's uncontradicted statement would be convincing evidence that he had been rejected because he is a Catholic. That is a position which the Democratic party cannot afford to occupy.

IF, privately, he is going to recognize race or religion as a reason for not nominating or appointing a man, his public protestations become hollow and hypocritical. Also, it is a position Mr. Roosevelt should not take against any man, but, least of all, against Jim Farley. What turning him down because he is a Catholic would do to the ticket's chances in New York can be imagined. Altogether, when Mr. Roosevelt allowed that statement about Mr. Farley's religion to stand, he raised an issue that may greatly affect both the convention and the campaign. At any rate, he has made it plain that what he says publicly about religious prejudice must be discounted. It does not prevent him from being influenced by its existence in his private political calculations.

FOUR DUSEKS WILL APPEAR AT TRENTON

TRENTON, N. J., Mar. 13.—The outstanding card of the current wrestling season has been carded by Promoter Johnny Ipp for the Trenton Arena tonight. The Four Duseks, wrestling's "Royal Family," will appear singly and collectively, against four top-notch opponents in what should be the liveliest wrestling entertainment seen here in many a moon.

Each bout can rightly be considered a windup attraction. Ernie, the mightiest of the devastating Duseks, will make his first appearance in two years when he comes to grips with Tommy Rae, clever and scientific New England mat artist and undefeated in his many local starts. Rae holds a win over Ernie gained at the Camden Armory and Ernie is thirsting for vengeance.

Rady, the veteran and cageiest of the group, will tangle with Tommy O'Toole, smooth-working young Texan, who has won eight straight matches here and who is one of the outstanding youngsters in the game. O'Toole recently won the round robin tournament in Philadelphia and earned two matches with Jimmy London.

Emil, the reckless and daring member of the tribe, will likewise face stern opposition when he meets Cliff Olson, madcap Swede, who is a pet hatred of local fandom. Once before the four Duseks were booked at the Arena but three days before the bouts, Emil was severely injured and he was on the sidelines for three years.

Joe, the baby and flashy member of the troupe, will come to grips with Bob Wagner, villainous and burly Oregon heavyweight. This match should steal the "thunder" away from any bout on the card.

An opening bout will pit Jack Lutze, California newcomer, against Ed Cook, former Iowa football star.

The first bout will start at 8.30 p. m.

Only 1% of Crimes Are Done By Bucks People

"People should not ridicule the law. When they do they are ridiculing the country."

The council members were informed that third degree methods are not used in Bucks County. "But we do use extensive grilling to gain confessions." How cases of crime are investigated, and what is involved, was gone into in detail. Cases were cited, showing how in a crime committed in Bristol, a car registered from Philadelphia might be used with the driver coming from Massachusetts, the machine being eventually abandoned in New Jersey. The women were then shown how the crime was pieced together bit by bit.

A donation of money was made to the local Red Cross.

For the second anniversary of the council, a musical play is scheduled for May 14th, this being in charge of Mrs. Ingraham, Andalusia.

TATTLER

Another week flies by with its usual number of oddities and unusual happenings. The leaders in the 5 leagues remain virtually the same.

The Philadelphia newspaper which was making awards to bowlers in Philadelphia and vicinity has completed its program until next season. We are glad that the local alleys were able to boast of three of these trinkets. Teddy Tosti was the first to amass the three consecutive 200 games, while Chick O'Boyle was the other member of this male aggregation to duplicate Teddy's feat. Carrie Keers, veteran lady bowler of these parts, rolled her series a few weeks before the campaign closed. Congratulations, boys and girls, why don't you enter the sweepstakes?

Last Monday evening, Clay of Patterson Parchment Paper Co. in the National League, clicked for a beautiful 255 game to tie Milnor for the Tattler medal. Nice going, kid. In a case of ties, duplicate medals will be awarded.

Francis O'Boyle and your Association secretary, Horace States, have entry blanks for any teams or individuals who wish to enter the Penna. State Tournament at York, Pa., get your reservation dates in early, boys.

That's all there is folks, we'll drift around and try to gather a few more interesting items to give you in a later writeup.

Croydon Residents Win Verdicts for Damages

"Murphy claimed that Bintzer was negligent, leaving the steam in the boilers go down too low, and Murphy demoted Bintzer. We then investigated and as a result of our findings, ordered Bintzer reinstated as watch engineer."

"Then Murphy informed Council and the electric light committee in writing that since Bintzer was ordered reinstated that he (Murphy) could no longer assume the responsibility over the period of time that Bintzer would be at work as watch engineer."

"So Council asked for Murphy's resignation when they found that he would not be responsible for the entire operation of the plant. When Murphy failed to resign, Council ordered his dismissal and we fired him."

Under cross-examination, Councilman Harr was asked by Attorney Ross for the plaintiff: "Didn't some residents of Perkasee come to you and ask to have Bintzer reinstated in his job as watch engineer?" Harr answered, "Not so far as I can recall."

Attorney Robert Grim, for the defense, then called Councilman Harold N. Price, a member of the electric light committee, who testified that his committee questioned all the mechanical men at the electric plant, after Bintzer's demotion by Murphy, and found that the demotion was "not warranted."

"Then we called Murphy to a meeting to hear his story," Price continued. "Murphy said that Bintzer was incompetent and that he caused a partial shutdown of the plant. Murphy himself told us that he did not know the cause of the short break in service."

Murphy recommended that Herbert Godshall be placed as watch engineer, but Godshall, a fireman, turned it down. Murphy also suggested a painter at the plant to be placed in the job as watch engineer.

"Murphy was discharged because of insubordination and inefficiency."

The plaintiff Murphy was then called for examination by defense attorney Grim.

"I have not been employed since I was fired and have made no earnings since that time," Murphy testified. "I have made efforts to get employment and I am registered in all the professional employment agencies in New York and Philadelphia, but I have not found work."

The testimony ruled out but Murphy stated that he has been receiving unemployment compensation insurance from the State of New York since January and will receive it for three more weeks, $15 a week from a case dating back to a period before he went to Perkasee.

Murphy was then called for further examination by his own attorneys, John Ross and Thomas Ross. He then produced his various licenses to practice as an engineer, one an unlimited Federal license to operate as an ocean engineer on any steam vessel of any size. He stated that he held a position for seven years with the Brooklyn-Edison Company, now the largest steam plant in the United States.

"I have not been able to obtain a position because of the existing contract with Perkasee Borough, because firms take the stand that Perkasee might call me back to finish the contract. It is also hard to get a job with my ability, at the age of 45. Persons 40 have the preference."

Murphy stated that when he left Perkasee he moved to an apartment at 2604 Newkirk avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., but that he was there dispossessed by his landlord. This testimony was objected to by Attorney Grim and the Court sustained the objection.

"Bintzer failed to do his work right, got excited and was negligent, and as a result caused interruptions in service," Murphy testified.

Court adjourned at this point until this morning.

YOU CAN PAY MORE -but why?

You can pay a lot more than the modest Chevrolet price for a motor car. But you'll find yourself asking, "Where can I get any more beauty, driving and riding ease, road action, safety and all-round value than I get in Chevrolet for '40?'" . . . Particularly when you consider Chevrolet's extremely low prices and Chevrolet's exceptionally low cost of operation and upkeep!
